

Wioletta A. Miskiewicz

Researcher at CNRS – Archives Henri-Poincaré, Laboratoire d'Histoire des Sciences et de Philosophie, Nancy (UMR 7117 CNRS/ Université de Lorraine).

Visiting professor at the Philosophical Institute of Warsaw University. WM studied philosophy in Warsaw, Cologne (Husserl Archives) and Heidelberg (with H.-G. Gadamer). After a research fellowship at the Husserl Archives in Louvain-la-Neuve (Belgium), she defended a doctoral dissertation at the Sorbonne (1986): The phenomenology of time: a reconstruction of the concept of perception (in French). In 2000, she obtained another PhD, with the dissertation on Husserl's philosophy in the theoretical context of cognitivism (University Paris X, in French). After a research position at the Husserl Archives in Paris (ENS), she moved to the IHPST (Paris) in 2004 and to the AHP (Nancy) in 2016.

WM is since 2005 the head of the e-Archives of the Polish Analytical School/ Kazimierz Twardowski Archives: <http://www.elv-akt.net>

She is a member of CAHIER (Huma-Num), DARIAH ERIC/FR, TEI Consortium and expert in COST EU.

WM published on a wide variety of topics including phenomenology, the relationship between phenomenology and cognitive psychology, the Austrian philosophical tradition, the Polish philosophical tradition (Actions and Products Theory, APT) and Digital Humanities.

Her research interests include productive relationship between the analytic tradition (with particular emphasis on the Austrian and Polish contributions) and the phenomenological tradition of Husserl, Ingarden, Blaustein : the methaphysics of artefacts. Since 2006 she has conducted several projects of DH and managed TEI encoding editorial projects. She works on digital ecosystems.

Languages: Polish (mother tongue), French (bilingual), German (bilingual), technical and scientific English, good command of Russian, beginner level in ancient Greek and Latin.